

Konekt Pre-employment Coordination

Konekt's pre-employment services model can allow you to off-set your businesses continuity risks. The management and execution of pre-employments for your business is in no way impacted by changes within your workforce including promotions, resignations, sudden absences, holiday and sick leave. In addition, our out sourcing arrangement:

- Allow your business to manage the ebbs and flows of your recruitment needs without having to appoint additional staff
- Provides you complete independent assessments
- Reduces the risk of industrial relations issues relating to discrimination.

The benefits

Konekt's outsourcing services allow you to have your entire pre-employment process coordinated, and as we track every part of the process, we can also deliver you reports of all data. Some of the benefits you can expect include:

- A consistent approach to coordination of all functional and medical assessments throughout Australia and New Zealand
- One point of contact via a 1300 number for coordination of all pre-employments, managed by a dedicated account manager
- Real-time access to log and track referrals, track assessment times and results, via a secure, web-based health management system
- Priority access to appointment times through our extensive network of providers across the country
- Guidance provided in information kits and via telephone for candidates and contractors so that they are aware of the processes and pre-testing requirements
- Training and education to ensure that your businesses specific requirements and pro-formas are consistent for every candidate referral
- Organisation at no further cost, of further testing by specialists where required
- Quality assurance of every assessment guaranteed
- Statistical reporting on your pre-employment numbers and results by project, region, state and holistic national data
- Centralised invoicing so that all your associated pre-employment costs are received by, and made to Konekt, your only supplier in the preemployment process.
